Course Overview

Since USC's founding in 1880, it has reshaped South Los Angeles in both visible and non-visible ways. Moreover, the recent completion of the USC Village – “a living and learning environment unlike any other in the greatest global city in the world” – confirms that USC shows no signs of slowing down in its altering of the physical and socio-cultural landscapes of South LA. Putting the debates about whether these changes are positive aside, you should be cognizant of the massive role your university plays in community and regional development. In short, being in this course provides you with the space to grapple with the following overarching questions: As members of the university, what does our relationship look like with the neighboring communities? Are we interlopers who come to South LA for an abbreviated period of time before heading elsewhere, or are we a permanent part of the city fabric? How can we bridge the academic/community divide in ways that advance our own development and benefit the communities right outside these gates?

In order to begin tackling these questions, this course requires you to engage with a community partner in the city of Los Angeles—in this case, a local high school. Through this equal partnership, you will start bridging University and classroom learning with “real world” experiences. In addition to facilitating engagement with the diverse community surrounding USC through critical media literacy, this course is designed to provide students with critical thinking and writing skills, and a thorough introduction to a variety of community issues. The professor will designate (and establish a formal working agreement with) a local school partner for the semester. A teacher at the school, as well as a USC professor, will evaluate student work.

Course Objectives

Students enrolled in this course will learn to:

- Employ tools that will help them gather information about and form a basic understanding of the local community based on its population.
- Collaborate with a local school, teacher, and students by
 - Listening, reflecting on, communicating with, and valuing the students with whom they interact.
 - Designing and deploying media literacy lesson plans (using www.criticalmediaproject.org) centered on identity issues
 - Creating a media-centered “project based learning” assignment reflecting on the local community
- See USC as part of the community, rather than elevated, distanced from, or in conflict with the community.
- Explore the role they can play as members of and participants in the community.
- Assess current and potential avenues for social change and DIY advocacy in relation to the community members (students and school) they are working with.

Ethical Guidelines: Responsibility, Conduct and Respect

Class meetings and visits to the designated LAUSD school should be safe spaces for both USC students and those who work/study at/visit the site. USC students must possess an open mind and sense of self-awareness with regard to their own identities (i.e. race/ethnicity, gender, age, class, sexuality, religious affiliation, ability, etc.), so as to not impose their ideas and values onto others. While on LAUSD premises, students are to follow the lead of the LAUSD teacher, respect the schedule (e.g., attend all visits and arrive on time), the subjects discussed, and the opinions of those they encounter. It is also crucial that Annenberg students exercise discretion when visiting the LAUSD classroom and interacting with the teacher and students. Students should view themselves as representatives of this course and project, the instructor, their peers, and USC. The LAUSD partner is relying on USC student participation, and it is important that Annenberg students are motivated, respectful and accountable.

LAUSD Requirements:

- LAUSD paperwork that establishes ground rules and standards of conduct
- “Working with Minors” training (by appointment with Jaime Carias, ASCJ Civic Engagement Coordinator, carias@usc.edu)
- Proof of TB test (for LAUSD)
- Students enrolled in this course are required to travel to specified a LAUSD campus (Bravo Medical Magnet, Communication and Technology School, or Dorsey High School). USC students must arrange their own transportation or be reimbursed for public transportation/ridesharing to travel between USC and the designated site.

Coursework:

- Complete background/contextual readings and reflections (3) as assigned.
- Participate in mandatory site visits to school (approximately 2-hour commitment, including travel time, per visit). Site visits are designed to promote cross-pollination between USC and designated high school.
- Observe and reflect on site visits to local LAUSD classrooms.
- Design lesson plans (6) that support instruction of CMP in local high school classroom.
- Write an end-of-term reflection, assessment, and evaluation of school visits and classroom experience with students.

Your grade will reflect the quality of assignments you complete, your professional adherence to mutually agreed upon schedule and attendance as well as each aspect of the course listed below. The LAUSD teacher will help me evaluate your work. Additional details will be provided about the following assignments during the course of the semester:

<A grade of A+ (97-100) may be given to individual assignments in rare instances where expectations are exceeded.>
- A-/B+ above average work, demonstrating effort and keen understanding of conceptual ideas and their relation to work in the community site
- B/B- average work, needs improvement on ideas and argument

- C- & below fulfilling the bare minimum and showing little understanding of the material

Each assignment will be worth 100 points and will be converted to a percentage score depending upon the weight assigned to each. Your percentage scores on the assignments will be totaled and translated to a letter grade as per the scale shown below:

A+	= 97-100 (only possible on individual assignments)
A	= 96-94	C	= 76-74
A-	= 93-90	C-	= 73-70
B+	= 89-87	D+	= 69-67
B	= 86-84	D	= 66-64
B-	= 83-80	D-	= 63-60
C+	= 79-77	F	= 59-00

If you have concerns regarding a grade on a given assignment, you must first wait 24 hours (cooling off period) before appealing it in writing, stating the reasons why you feel the grade is inaccurate. All concerns should be addressed within 10 days of receiving the graded assignment. After that, no appeals will be accepted for review and the grade will be considered final.
